A Business That is Always Moving

EACH week has a history all its own in our business. To-day's special offerings are different from any that have preceded them. It is the knowledge of this fact that is so rapidly widening the circle of our daily readers. And the reading inspires large buying, because New York is comprehending more perfectly the exceptional chances afforded by a great business. "Bargain" is not a degraded word here.

A Slash at the Silks

DOWN they go! They are the prettiest and best of their kinds, but if they are cheaper they'll go quicker. That fault will be fixed in short order.

They are principally Foulards, as the following detail will show. Nearly all twenty-seven inches wide. And they are all new, picked carefully, owned exclusively, and were marked at fair prices. They were cheap considering quality and cost, but we'll forget what they cost us. HALF PRICES, therefore,—and this the very beginning of the season! Come and

International Synthesis

PARIS and New York are arm and arm in the Novelty Dress Goods business. That's the case with the Paris novelties just arrived. Samples come. Orders are given. Presto, the goods are here! Paris and New York welcome them in unison. A partial list follows:-

A Triple Alliance in Gloves

In the A. T. Stewart days this store did the largest glove business in the country. We propose that history shall repeat itself, because our efforts will deserve the encore. Our facilities for getting gloves are peculiarly good, and we enjoy a masterful position in that regard. It is the growth of years, and its purpose is to enable us to sell better gloves for the money than others sell. That's the whole theory of mercantile competition. Here is the practical exemplification of the theory as applied

First, the Princess May, which we believe is the only real kid glove now sold in the country at the price. Made especially for us, and a magnificent quality. One Dollar a Pair.

Second, the Burmont, another marked specialty, and more glove for the money than you can find elsewhere. Real kid, embroidered, in all colors and black and white. One Dollar and a Half. Third, the Dauphine, a splendid quality, standing alone in its class, as do the others in theirs. One Dollar and Seventy-five Cents.

Bric-a-Brac at Half Prices VERY often the art-connoisseur and the bargain-hunter are united in the same person, hence there will be some early calls here this morning. This is a matter which appeals to the gatherer of pretty things. We have cut prices squarely in two on a very excellent collection of French and English Vases, Plates and Ceramic Art Goods.

Royal Worcester, at half prices.

Royal Bonn, at half prices. Teplitz, at half and two-thirds prices. That tells a good deal of the story, but not all ;-although it will probably tell quite enough for most people. Here's the whole of it :--ROYAL WORCESTER VASES At $1, were $2 At $4.50, were $9 At $9, were $18 At $15, were $30 ROYAL BONN VASES

An Oracle in Carpets

WHEN our big Carpet Store speaks it pays buyers of carpets at retail to listen. Our carpet store is a law unto itself, an exception—not a freak. Our carpet store controls great quantities of Velvet Carpets—the sorts that are fair and cheap at $1.35 and $1.50. To-day we select 5,000 yards of them, fine patterns, with all the tone, sheen and silkiness of high-grade Wilton. They are to go at $1.10 a Yard.

In Spring-time the housekeeper's thoughts fondly turn to carpets; and here are the carpets.

We sell Linoleums and Inlaid Linoleums with colorings all

We bring Straw Mattings direct from China and Japan, and that's the cause of their cheapness here-four hundred patterns.
